The Grass area has great opportunities to achieve a great play. There are many different things that kids can do there without hurting or annoying other students.

I like two parks: Reservation park (the one with the giant swing, flying fox, swirly net where you sit and it moves, a big field, and a fun playground with rock climbing. I also like the park in O'Hoi street (the one with the skateboard park, and a great playground).

12/2/2015 9:33 AM View respondent's answers

Somers Camp had a great opportunity to fun with the big rock that kids could climb. That does cost a lot though so Shore Reserve has a giant swing and a bulldozer in the sandpit that could be good for the younger kids. I also enjoyed a roller coaster in Adelaide. It had 3 small carriages that went up and down a small metal pole. It was very safe with the sides of the carriages sealed off and it wasn't as scary as it sounds either. I think it could bring much more fun to our yard.

Harmony Park and, i don't know the name of the park but it has a Flying Fow and treehouses and bell bridges, a rock climbing wall, grassier areas, hills, slides that are higher, rock sculpturs and more artwork, climbing equiptment. I wish we could install things like bars, for people to do flips on because lots of people like gymnastics, i would like to get a big wall outside that is VERY strong and then we could get a projector and on special events we could invite people to the school and watch a movie on the projector and then we could raise money it could cozt $2 for a movie!
